2027 Boat and Cottage Shows: Where to Find Us

Come stand on a dock, sit in a Rover Marine boat and ask the team anything.

Inflatable docks and boats are hard to judge from a product photo. You want to know how firm the deck feels underfoot, how heavy the rolled-up dock really is, and whether the boat fits the back of your truck. A show booth is the one place you can check all of that in ten minutes.

Bring this to the booth

The most useful booth conversations take five minutes, because the visitor came prepared.

- [ ] Measure your space. Length of your dock or shoreline, the width of your boat's swim platform, and where the gear will live in winter.
- [ ] Know your water. Depth where the dock will sit, the bottom (sand, mud, weeds, rock, steep drop-off) and how exposed it is.
- [ ] Count the users. How many adults, kids and dogs will be on it at once.
- [ ] Bring photos. Your shoreline, your boat, the stairs or path down to the water.
- [ ] Check your vehicle. If you are looking at a boat, know your cargo space and whether you want to tow at all.
- [ ] Ask about show pricing on the day. Offers vary from show to show and are set close to each one.
- [ ] Know the local rules. Permit and anchoring rules vary by province, municipality and conservation authority.

- Ask about it. Paddleboards, pumps and POP Up Chairs are easier to choose in person.
